Achill Head forms the extreme western point of Achill Island. The coast scenery at this point is simply magnificent. Nowhere are these massive natural bastions less than 500 feet high, while at Croaghann, near the Head, they attain a height of 2,192 feet—probably the highest sea cliffs in the world.

Dear Mother I am alright and enjoying myself right down to the ground I can tell you I have been made very welcome here but I am a bit shy yet I feel more comfortable with you at home
I will finish now I remain Yours Frank
